SOLDIERS OF 1861.

$100 Bounty.

The Supreme Court of the United States has just decided that those Soldiers who enlisted under the first call of the President, prior to July 22d, 1861, and who were honorably discharged upon a Surgeon's certificate of disability, are entitled to a bounty of $100.

This bounty has heretofore been refused to Soldiers who served less than two years, unless discharged on account of wounds. Under this decision, it will be paid to those discharged by reason of disease.

We are authorized to procure this bounty, and will collect it for those entitled, promptly, and at the lowest rates.

Applications will be sent by mail upon request, to those who cannot call at our office. Those for whom we have not previously done business will please forward their discharges to us, and we will send the necessary papers by return mail.

As these claims will accumulate at the Department, soldiers will see the policy of sending their discharges early, in order that their applications may be filed immediately.

New Bounty.

Circular to Soldiers & their Heirs.

April 15th, 1861, President Lincoln, by Proclamation, called for 75,000 Volunteer Soldiers to suppress Rebellion.

He promised soldier's legal pay to each man, and also $100 Bounty to every man who should enlist under his Proclamation, to be paid by the United States when honorably discharged.

This $100 Bounty has, up to this time, been refused to all soldiers who enlisted under that call, in case they were discharged for sickness, or on surgeon's certificate of disability, who were in the army less than two years, though clearly entitled by the words and spirit of the President's Proclamation.

The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that this promised Bounty must now be paid, and I am prepared to obtain it for every soldier who enlisted before July 22d, 1861, who received an honorable discharge for disability, sickness, or on surgeon's certificate of disability.

Soldiers can call at my office personally—send by mail, or otherwise.

It is very desirable to have the soldier's discharge in all cases, as the Bounty can be more readily collected; but the Bounty can be obtained where the discharge is lost, or cannot be had.

☞ Also, it is decided that soldiers with the promise of $300 Bounty, to be paid by installments, and who have not been fully paid the full amount, though discharged by expiration of service, or because their services were no longer required, are now entitled to the remaining installment promised.

☞ A bill has passed one branch of Congress, giving the $100 to the widow, children or parents of all soldiers who died in the army, where the soldier enlisted for one year or less.

This will give $100 to the heirs of all soldiers who died in the service, belonging to any nine months or three months regiments, or seven less.

I shall give particular attention in these classes of cases, and I have full records in the case of every Maine soldier.

☞ There are several other classes of cases where Bounty, Pension, Prize Money, Mileage, or Rations are due; especially are there many meritorious claims for Pension due dependant mothers or fathers of soldiers who lost their lives in the army.

In many such cases applications have been made, but remain unsettled for want of proof, or from neglect and frequently incompetency of the agent who filed the claim. This class of cases I will attend to. Also I will continue to obtain Pensions for all wounded and disabled soldiers, or, in case of death of the soldier, for their widows or children.

☞ A bill is going before Congress giving $175 to to each soldier who has lost a leg or arm in the army. It is believed this Bill will pass.

All advice free relating to these claims. Pensions paid to Pensioners without extra charge.

CENTRE DISCHARGE

Water Wheel,

Patented October 29th, 1867.

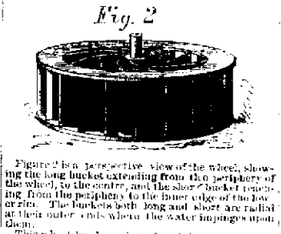

Figure 2 is a perspective view of the wheel, showing the long bucket extending from the periphery of the wheel, to the centre, and the short buckets projecting from the periphery to the inner edge of the lower rim. The buckets both long and short are radial at their outer ends whereas the water impinges upon them.

This wheel has been introduced into a number of the best mills for making lumber on the Penobscot River within the last two years, and for power and economy in the use of water together with simplicity in its construction and durability, it is the most desirable wheel in the market.

The HINCKLEY & EGERY Iron Co., of this city are prepared to furnish six different sizes from 4 to 7 feet in diameter, and from 10 to 22 inches depth of bucket. All orders addressed to them will be promptly attended to, and for plans to manufacture them in other sections of the country. Address,

THE ECUMENICAL COUNCIL

At last, it seems, there is a prospect of a division in the Roman Council which portends serious results. The German Bishops have not hesitated to declare that they will separate from the Roman Church if the Council should pronounce in favor of the doctrines which the Jesuits claim must be established. The feeling of Catholic Germany has long been openly pronounced on the question of the infallibility of the Pope, and in unmistakable language, but it was hardly to be expected that it would so soon be expressed before the Council. Bishop Strossmayer of Hungary has however, broken silence and has given proof to the world that holy men who go in for the presence of the Holy Spirit for infallible guidance and for infallibility in the person of the Vicar of Christ, are after all very much like the rest of us, frail and fallible mortals. Our latest news is to the effect that Bishop Strossmayer moved that for the definition of an article of faith the entire concurrence of the episcopate be considered necessary. The result, we are told was violent opposition. The Bishop was insulted, driven from the tribune and threatened. Of course, this a meagre and imperfect report; but, considering the temper of the German Bishops generally, it must be accepted as substantially true. If it be true many will ask the question, wherein are the assembled Bishops at Rome better or wiser than so many American legislators?

That a crisis has arrived in the history of the Council must be admitted. It is, in fact, apparent to the world. All our recent letters and cable dispatches go to show that the Pope and the ultramontane party are determined to have infallibility proclaimed, and that the Gallican and German and American parties are just as determined that so far as they are concerned no such dogma shall be proclaimed. Dr Manning, of London, and Dupanloup, of Orleans head the respective parties.

Manning has the advantage of being at the head of the majority, but this advantage is dangerously counterbalanced by the fact that his antagonist represents a Catholic State, or rather the Catholic States. Manning may command numbers and much intellectual ability, but Dupanloup has armies at his back great States and Empires. The situation in the Council is really serious. The infallibilists are resolute. They have the power, and they mean to use it. Right or wrong, schism or no schism, infallibility, in their judgment, is a necessity of the age, and it must be proclaimed. In this emergency the civil Powers who have hitherto looked on have stepped in and demanded a hearing. Count Daru the present Minister of Foreign Affairs in France, has demanded that, in the event of infallibility being discussed and brought to a vote, France have in the Council a lay representative. It is said that Count Daru has received a letter from Rome in reply to his demand, although the nature and contents of the reply have not been made public. Much, very much, depends on that answer. It was proper that France should take the lead in this matter, for France is the leading Catholic Power. It is France that maintains the Pope in Rome. But for French bayonets, where would be the temporal power? The temporal power gone, where would be the Pope? If the reply to France be favorable; if France is permitted to send a lay representative to the Council, Austria will demand the same privilege or right. So will Bavaria. So, too, in all likelihood will Italy and Spain. Considering the large Catholic population of North Germany it would not surprise us if Bismarck insisted on having the same right. These lay agents in Council may give to the questions at issue a new complexion and very seriously affect the result. If the answer from Rome refuses to allow a lay representative of any Power to take his seat in the Council, then we shall have France and Austria and Bavaria and Italy and Spain in open antagonism to the Holy See. This may not prevent the Council from bringing infallibility to a vote and carrying it. But in such a case the Roman Church will have lost every secular arm on which it has hitherto leaned, and it will find itself opposed to and by every civil government on the face of the earth. We have reached a point in the history of the Council when compromise may play a prominent part. In our judgment nothing but compromise can prevent the Council from becoming as much a failure as it is already an anachronism.

THE DARIEN CANAL EXPEDITION. The expedition sent by our Government to explore a route for a ship-canal across the Isthmus of Darien, has arrived safely in Caledonia Bay. The officers in charge have gone vigorously to work and are sanguine of success.—A road has been cut, three miles in length, to a river which is said to flow into the Pacific Ocean. Is it possible that this is in the narrow valley on the Atlantic coast which Dr Cullen insists that he discovered, but which subsequent explorers failed to find? We shall await fuller dispatches with great interest, as all the indications now point to a success. The Indians are said to be friendly and disposed to aid the explorers, who are energetic and enthusiastic in the performance of their labors. The right of way secured from the Colombian Government, there seems to be no obstacle to prevent in two years, the shortening of the route from New York to San Francisco, fourteen thousand miles.

On Saturday, Prince Pierre Napoleon was acquitted of the charge of unlawfully killing Victor Noir, the journalist but was sentenced to pay 25,000 francs to the family of Victor Noir, and also to pay the expenses of the civil suit. Since the killing was admitted, and Mr Fonvielle the only person present besides the Prince and his victim, swore that it was not only wilful, but wanton and unprovoked, the lawfulness of the act would seem to lie, not at all in its motive or character, but in the dignity and nearness to the Emperor of the agent. To put the decision in a general form—the High Court of Justice declares that in France any member of the Bonaparte family may lawfully kill a Republican journalist. It is not strange that such a judgment is received in Paris with surprise and indignation, nor is it likely to lengthen the life of the new "Constitutional-Monarchy" form of military despotism, which the Empire has so lately assumed.

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH SYSTEM IN FRANCE AND ENGLAND. Representative Washburn of Wisconsin, has received official information from France of the operations of the postal telegraph system under government control. The exhibit is most favorable to the system, the number of messages having increased enormously and the receipts being much larger than ever, although the rate per message is as low as economy demands. Advices from England are to the same effect as those from France. The increase of business has been great, and there is no doubt that the postal telegraph system will prove a decided success in Great Britain.

The St. John, N. B., Globe says: "The year 1871 cannot come a moment too soon for the needs of New Brunswick. We are getting short for cash, and the amount we have for our [illegible] will soon not be adequate for those wants."

How the operations of the telegraph are causing changes in this country is wonderfully exemplified at Key West. Vessels arrive there now that do in a few hours, and by expenditure of from thirty to fifty dollars a business which cost them thousands of dollars heretofore, and many days' time. The captains of those vessels telegraph to different ports, inquiring for freights. By telegraph they make their engagements to accept freight, and move direct for the place or places where they can get that freight, and the prices for carrying it that are the most profitable.

A new kind of paper specially adapted for various articles of clothing, has been invented in England. Both animal and vegetable materials are employed in its production, the latter being New Zealand flax, jute, hemp and cotton, and the former wool, silk and skins.—These are reduced to a pulp and bleached and then felted in appropriate machinery. The mixture of these materials gives a paper of extraordinary pliancy, flexibility and strength, which may be sewn together as easily as woven fabrics. A very good imitation of leather is made of it, of which furniture coverings and even shoes may be made.

The Knights of St. Crispin are having a hearing before the Labor Committee of the Massachusetts Legislature, upon the subject of petition of members of the order, for an act of incorporation. Charles Cowley of Lowell appeared as counsel for the Crispins and S. P. Cummings of Lynn, the official head of the Crispin order, was also present. On the part of the remonstrants, P. Amory Aldrich of Worcester and Thomas G. Kent of Milford appeared.

VANCEBOROUGH AND ITS TANNERY

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier

Messrs F. Shaw & Bros have just finished what is probably the largest tannery in the world, at this place. The main building is 475 feet long and 47½ feet wide, contains 331 vats for tanning the leather and 28 water pits for soaking the hides. A separate building, used as a roll mill and dry loft combined, is 40 feet wide and 260 feet long. The leach house is 36 feet wide and 110 feet long, with 12 leaches holding 12 cords of bark after it is ground. The bark mill is 40 feet wide and 63 feet long, erected over the dam so that the bark may be unloaded in the mill direct from boats on the pond. The lake above which is navigable 29 miles, is lined with hemlock on both sides of the lake the whole distance, with sufficient bark to last the tannery a life time. Here is an excellent water power which never fails in consequence of the extensive lakes above, on the St. Croix River, 30 miles above Calais, and about 110 miles from Bangor, on the E. & N. A. Railway, which crosses here about six rods above the dam. Messrs Shaw & Bros have a circular saw mill here, capable of cutting out ten thousand feet of lumber every twenty-four hours. The firm bought the location in December, 1868, at which time there was not one building here, now it contains on both sides of the river about 30 dwelling houses, several stores and other buildings, with we are sorry to say, any amount of rum shops on Her Brittanic Majesty's side. To the great credit of the Messrs Shaw, they will not allow one drop of the poison sold on this side of the line.

The present capacity of the tannery will require about 10,000 or 12,000 cords of bark annually, and turn off about 400 to 500 [illegible] of leather each year. It is proposed to erect an addition to the tannery of about [illegible] vats which will increase its capacity about 40 per cent.

The soil for farming purposes is not generally good here, excepting some beautiful ridges of land covered with hard wood. The tannery is at the foot of the Shepetuni [illegible] Lake, (called here Spednic,) which is 20 miles long and from ½ to 10 miles wide with very deep water, so that the river at the tannery is never frozen over, and its wheels are never troubled with ice. The present means of getting hides in and the leather out is by the railroad from St. Stephens to City Camp six miles east of the tannery thence to Vanceborough on the E & N A Railway which is now made from the St Croix to St Johns.

The Company has made quite an extensive purchase of real estate here and is trying to increase it largely. Mr. Todd of St. Stephens owns on the other side of the river and intends to use the water at the other end of the Shaw's dam, which will make a lively village on both sides, and as Mr Todd is a thorough temperance man it is hoped he will make a change for the better on his side of the river.

J. N. Walker, Esq., of Freedom had charge of putting in all of the gear for driving the tannery, all of which runs like clock work.—He is now building a tannery for the same Company at Jackson Brook, on the road from Calais to Houlton, about 45 miles from Calais, five miles from the E & N A Railway and 24 miles from Vanceborough. The carpenter's work was done under the direction of J. C. & S. H. Friend of Etna, and the lumber was furnished by H. W. Goodwin, late of Detroit. The work was begun on the tannery May 10, 1869, and the tannery was in operation Oct. 5th of the same year. About 70 men are employed in the tannery.

—The Lewiston Journal says that a slide occurred on the Androscoggin R. R., Monday, below Lisbon Falls, burying a short section of the track some two feet deep. The engineer saw it, but before the train could be stopped the engine ran into the break, and was forced from the track. The trains were delayed by the accident, but no damage was done.

OUR TEXAN CORRESPONDENCE

COLUMBIA, Texas, March 18, 1870.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

I have before stated in this correspondence that what was true in general of the State of Texas in regard to industrial energy, material development and financial prosperity, is not so much the fact in this county (Brazoria) and for the gratification of those who derive comfort from company in misery, and in justice to truth I may say that the counties of Fort Bend, Wharton, and Matagorda should be classed in the same exceptional category, and this is attributable to a variety of causes. First—The seasons have been decidedly unfavorable to the cultivation of the cotton crop relied on here since the war. Formerly the crops of these counties were divided between cotton and sugar cane, the cotton requiring a dry and the sugar cane a wet season—and we are always sure of having one or the other extreme for successful culture. The years of the war were dry and as cotton was in the greater demand for export through the blockade and overland to Mexico, to procure return supplies as a consequence the sugar interest suffered, to the extent of being plowed up entirely on some of the best farms—One plantation of a thousand acres in cane was wholly plowed up in the year 1863, and the same planted in cotton. Its immense sugar house, the model one in the State, with machinery worth $80,000 was entirely over[illegible] and the machinery sold here and there at great sacrifices. There were on that plantation [illegible] but five miles from here—[illegible] the close of the war.

Since then the cotton crops have been almost a failure every year by reason of the wet seasons and ravages of the cotton worm. The plantation in question was sold in 18[illegible] for $150,000 and in 1868 went back under mortgage to its original owner and was subsequently sold for $16,000, and more recently for $[illegible]. It is safe to say that had the [illegible] growth of [illegible] handsome returns [illegible]

—The Camden Herald says that Levi Matthews of Lincolnville, 83 years old, can chop wood from the stump and fine cord-wood length, and keep his pile even with most any younger man. Last winter (at 82 years of age,) he went into the woods "just to see how [illegible]," He chopped [illegible] his [illegible] cord in five hours and a half.

Mr Johnson lived several days after the amputation, during which time he was brought to this place in a flat-boat, rowed by negroes. Soon after arriving here he died, and I was one of perhaps a dozen people, mostly Union soldiers, who followed his corpse to its grave.

Although this man had been to use his own language, "for thirty years a gutter drunkard of the dirtiest sort, though at that time reformed, and was in himself and family a representative of poverty, ignorance and prostitution, still I am persuaded, from having lived in the same village with him for seven years, and during the whole length of the rebellion that he had a better heart and was a better man in all that pertains to honesty of purpose, fidelity to principle and genuine loyalty and patriotism than the man his brother, who sprang from the merest dregs of Southern society, and for a brief profession of loyalty was placed where an assassin's bullet raised him to the first office in the nation, from which he undertook to [illegible] the [illegible] sense and political justice of the people of this union and did for four years disgrace with his foul presence and apostasy [illegible] the highest official position on this round world.

GENERAL GEORGE H THOMAS

In his letter opposing Logan's army bill the other day Gen. Sherman in his impetuous style, exclaimed: "What money will pay Meade for Gettysburg? What Sheridan for Winchester and Five Forks? What Thomas for Chickamauga, Chattanooga and Nashville?" The news of the death of the great and good man last named answers the question. [illegible] the military leader [illegible] conduct strongly commend [illegible] his contemporaries of George Washington [illegible] the conviction that he was [illegible] loved by his countrymen.

George Henry Thomas was born in Southampton County, Virginia, July [illegible] 1816. Of his parentage and early life little is known to the public. He graduated from the Military Academy at West Point in 1840 and entered the army as [illegible] of the [illegible] Artillery. [illegible]

Grant soon arrived and assumed command. In the following month the battle of Chattanooga was fought, the grandest ever fought west of the Alleghanies. Thomas led the army under him [illegible] [illegible] the very heart of the rebel [illegible] Thomas and Hooker had pushed Bragg into Georgia the way was open [illegible] Sherman's march to the sea. In May [illegible] the campaign which ended in the fall [illegible] Thomas commanded the army of the Cumberland. In October the concentration of the rebel forces in northern Alabama rendered the safety of Nashville precarious and Thomas was sent to its relief. Hood attempted to besiege the city but the battle of Franklin resulted in his [illegible] [illegible] Thomas's [illegible] and his portrait painted [illegible] [illegible] in response to the proposition of a [illegible] few weeks ago to remove it [illegible] position will be remembered by all.

When Sherman began his march to [illegible] Thomas was placed in command of all the Western troops which were not with [illegible] superior [illegible] his department [illegible] was sent to command the third [illegible] When Johnson [illegible] removed Sheridan from the command at New Orleans he appointed Thomas [illegible] but he again declined on the ground of health.—Trouble which was looked for at the Tennessee election in 1867 was averted by his firmness and prudence without the use of troops. In 1869 he was transferred from the department of the Cumberland where he had administered affairs with general satisfaction, to the Pacific coast, and it was at San Francisco that his death occurred.

The prominent features of General Thomas's character were his calmness, prudence and unflinching firmness. He was simple in his tastes and unassuming in his manners utterly devoid of all pomp and pretension. He was as little of a speech maker as Grant. [illegible] his reports are the plainest and briefest possible narratives of the events they describe. His conduct toward his fellow-officers in [illegible] showed the magnanimity of his nature and his freedom from all personal motives, while he was loved by his soldiers who affectionately styled him "Pap" Thomas. His great services to his country cannot be over-estimated and will be fondly remembered by coming generations.

A Washington correspondent has been calculating the total amount in acres and value in dollars of the public lands whose appropriation is contemplated by some ninety odd bills now pending in Congress. The aggregate is certainly startling. The acres asked for are above 100,000,000, in area about three times the size of New York State. Their value at the Government price is $125,000,000. A great many of these bills will not pass and many others ought not to, but it is feared that importunate "land-grabbers," without the intention or the means of developing the public lands they ask, will injure the chances of honest petitioners at the head of practicable and important enterprises. The public lands are too valuable to sell in the smallest quantities at the highest market price to mere speculators. At the same time they are well and profitably disposed of as free gifts in encouragement of industrial projects which promise to attract immigrants, provided always that the gifts are conditional on the transfer of the land to actual settlers at easy rates and in small quantities.

FORTY FIRST CONGRESS--SECOND SESSION

WASHINGTON, March 30

SENATE

The Senate insisted on its non-concurrence in the House amendments to the District of Columbia Usury bill, and Messrs Hamlin, Thurman and Harris were appointed a conference committee.

Bills were passed providing for a post office and other public buildings in Montgomery, Ala, and Little Rock, Ark.

The concurrent resolution appointing a joint special committee on Indian Affairs was taken up

Mr Thurman opposed, and Mr Morrill favored it.

The resolution passed after debate, in which the fact of that steamer landing a Boston man at Halifax who had the small pox was fully ventilated

Further action was postponed by the expiration of the morning hour

Mr Sumner moved to proceed to the consideration of executive business, and after a discussion with reference to the necessity of disposing of the Gen Ames case the motion was agreed to

At 1 10 P M, the doors were closed

A bill was introduced and referred to the Judiciary Com. fixing Tuesday next after the first Monday in November as the day on which Representatives and delegates to Congress shall be elected throughout the whole country

Adjourned

HOUSE.

Immediately after reading the journal Mr [illegible] of Pa, offered a resolution declaring the Senate and House of Representatives have heard with deep regret of the sudden decease of Gen George H Thomas who was endeared to the country by a series of unbroken patriotic services during a period of thirty years, that his distinguished career in the defence of the country against foreign and domestic enemies, his never faltering faith and zeal in the maintenance of the Union and the integrity of the Government, and his stern execution of every trust confided to him constituted a record in life made memorable in death, and authorizing the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House to make such arrangements in connection with his obsequies as will testify the sympathies of Congress in this national bereavement.

Mr Randall remarked that having in the early part of the war served as a non-commissioned officer under Gen Thomas, he had felt his duty to offer the resolutions No words of his could add lustre to Gen. Thomas's record of heroic deeds which were inseparably interwoven in the history of the country.

The resolution was unanimously adopted

Mr Butler of Mass, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported back the Senate amendment to the bill admitting Texas to representation in the Union with the recommendation that the amendment be concurred in.

The amendment is to strike out the proviso that no thing in the bill shall affect the condition on which Texas was originally annexed to the union

After debate the Senate amendment was concurred in by yeas 132 to nays 50, a party vote

Having adopted the order that the general debate on the tariff bill be closed to-morrow one hour and a half after it is taken up in committee, the House then went into committee of the whole on the bill, and Mr Maynard proceeded to defend and advocate the bill.

Pending his argument the committee rose and the President's proclamation announcing the ratification of the 15th amendment was received and read, followed by applause on the floor and in the galleries

Mr Peters of Me moved that the message and proclamation be referred to the Judiciary Committee, and the previous question was seconded, 88 to 1, Mr Wood of New York being the only Democrat that voted against it.

The speaker asked Mr. Wood whether he insisted on further count

Mr Wood said he did

Mr Dawes of Mass, suggested to Mr Peters to withdraw his motion of reference, as the good accomplished by the proclamation would not be effected by its reference

Mr Peters assented, and withdrew his motion

The House then went into committee, and Mr Maynard resumed his argument.

At the conclusion of Mr Maynard's speech the House adjourned

PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT--RATIFICATION OF THE 15TH AMENDMENT.

EXECUTIVE MANSION
WASHINGTON, D C, March 30, 1870

To the Senate and House of Representatives

It is unusual to notify the two Houses of Congress by message, of the promulgation by proclamation, and the Secretary of State of the ratification of the constitutional amendment

In view, however, of the vast importance of the 15th amendment of the Constitution, this day declared a part of that revered instrument, I deem a departure from the usual custom justifiable The measure which makes at once four millions of people voters who were heretofore declared by the highest tribunal in the land not citizens of the United State, nor eligible to become so, which assertion, that at the time of the Declaration of Independence was fixed and universal in the civilized portion of the white race, and regarded as an axiom in morals as well as in politics, that black men had no rights which white men were bound to respect, is indeed a measure of grander importance than any other one act of the kind from the foundation of our free government to the present time Institutions like ours, in which all power is derived directly from the people must depend mainly upon their intelligence, patriotism and industry

I call the attention, therefore, of the newly enfranchised race to the importance of their striving, in every honorable manner, to make themselves worthy of their new privilege.—To a race more favored heretofore by our laws I would say withhold no legal privilege of advancement to the new citizen The framers of our Constitution firmly believed that a Republican form of government could not endure without intelligence and education, was generally diffused among the people The Father of his Country in his Farewell Address uses the following language —"Promote, then, as a matter of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge In proportion as the structure of the government gives force to public opinion it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened" In his first annual address to Congress, the same views were forcibly presented, and are again urged in his eighth message

I repeat that the adoption of the 15th amendment to the Constitution completes the greatest civil change and constitutes the most important event that has occurred since the nation came into life. The change will be beneficial in proportion to the heed that is given to the urgent recommendations of Washington. If these recommendations were important then, with a population of but a few millions, how much more important are they now, with a population of forty millions, and increasing in rapid ratio I would therefore call upon Congress to take all the means within their constitutional power to promote and encourage popular education throughout the country, and upon the people everywhere to see to it that all who possess and exercise political rights shall have an opportunity to acquire that knowledge which will make their share in the government a blessing and not a danger By such means only can the benefits contemplated by this amendment to the Constitution be secured

[Signed] U. S GRANT.

HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State of the United States.

To all whom these presents may come, greeting

Know ye that the Congress of the United States on or about the 27th day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, passed a resolution in the words and figures following, to wit

A resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled two-thirds of both Houses concurring, that the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be valid as a part of the Constitution, namely

Article 15th Sec 1st—The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States, or by any State, on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Sec 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

And, further, that it appears from official documents on file in this Department that the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, proposed as aforesaid, has been ratified by the Legislatures of the States of North Carolina, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Wisconsin Maine, Louisiana Michigan South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois New York New Hampshire, Nevada, Vermont, Virginia Alabama, Indiana, Mississippi, Missouri Ohio, Iowa Kansas Minnesota, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Texas in all 29 States

And further that the States whose Legislature have so ratified the said proposed amendment constitute three-fourths of the whole number of States in the United States

And further, that it appears from the official document on file in this Department that the Legislature of New York has since passed a resolution claiming to withdraw said ratification of said amendment, which had been made by the Legislature of that State and of which official notice had been filed in this Department; and,

Further, That it appears from the official document on file in this Department that the Legislature of Georgia has by resolution ratified said proposed amendment

Now therefore, be it known that I Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States, by virtue and in pursuance of the second section of the act of Congress approved the 20th day of April, 1818 entitled an act to provide for the publication of the Laws of the United States and for other purposes, do hereby certify that the amendment aforesaid has become valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution of the United States In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the Seal of the Department of State to be affixed

Done at the City of Washington, this 30th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-fourth.

(Signed) HAMILTON FISH

THE INDIAN MASSACRE As a comment on the current talk in regard to an Indian massacre, Grace Greenwood puts the following in a recent letter "While on a visit to the Land Office I was shown by Mr Wilson the Commissioner, a singular relic of a late fight on the Plains. It was a garment taken from an Indian Chief after death A shirt of buckskin, made without the usual ornamentation of beads and porcupine quills, yet graced with something quite novel in the decorative way—a full, long fringe, formed of the hair of white women and children. It was a ghastly adornment—indeed, the entire garment was a very unpleasant thing to inspect. The only point in it on which the eye could rest without horror or pity, was a small round hole, beneath which the raging heart of a human wild beast came one day to a full stop."

LETTER FROM CONSUL MORSE

Success of Sherman's Method of Making Steel in England

Deodat Brastow, Esq , of Brewer, has received a letter from Hon Freeman H Morse, United States Consul General at London, relative to Sherman's method of making steel Mr Sherman, it will be remembered, belongs in Bucksport in this State, and some time since went to England in company with Dr Tefft of Brewer, to introduce in Europe the process he had invented The letter referred to, is as follows

UNITED STATES CONSULATE GENERAL, LONDON, Feb 9, 1870

At the request of Messrs Tefft and Sherman I went with them to the Government Dock Yard at Chatam to witness certain tests of steel made from common English iron by Mr Sherman The tests were made under the direction of British Government officers, by direction of the Board of Admiralty These tests I witnessed on the 7th and 8th of this month

I conversed with the officers who superintended them and with the workmen who used the turning tools All the tests made by machinery were in the highest degree satisfactory and proved of far higher proof than any steel before tested by them. In some cases they were 100 per cent. above the required proof of the best steel they use. One of the Superintendents told me that he was not at liberty to give opinions yet, but would say "he had no doubt the official report would be very satisfactory to us all." So far as I can judge, the tests were in the highest degree satisfactory and all that Mr. Sherman could ask.

F. H. MORSE, Consul General.

P. S. The head man in the shop where the turning tools were used, told me they never used [illegible] F. H. M.

—The Camden Herald says that Thursday, after the schooner Tiger had loaded and hauled up into the stream at Rockport Captain Hopkins found she had sprung a leak, and that the lime was on fire It was soon smothered out and a few hours after the captain and one of the crew went into the cabin to get something to eat They found the cabin full of gas The deck hand succeeded in reaching the deck but the captain fell to the floor, and was taken out a few minutes afterwards by the crew of a vessel near by He was found senseless from suffocation It was two hours before he became conscious

—We find in the Camden Herald that the citizens of Rockport, March 18th held a large meeting to give expression to their feelings at the prospect of an early return to the village of one Jerome Pickard who by his cowardly and brutal attacks upon inoffending individuals has made himself feared by the community and who had the day before received a light sentence for a fiendish assault upon one of the most peaceable and respectable citizens in the town

POETRY.

YOUR HOUSE.

BY MRS M A KIDDER

Be true to yourself at the start, young man
Be true to yourself and God
For you build your house mark well the spot
Test all the ground, and build you not
On the sand or the shaking sod.

Dig, dig the foundation deep young man
Plant firmly the outer wall,
Let the props be strong and the roof be high,
Like an open turret towards the sky,
Through which heaven's dews may fall

Let this be the room of the soul young man—
When shadows shall herald care
A chamber with never a roof or thatch
To hinder the light—or door or latch
To shut in the spirit's prayer

Build slow and sure—for life long young man—
A life that outlives the breath
For who shall gainsay the Holy Word?
Their works do follow them saith the Lord
Therein there is no death

Build deep and high and broad young man,
As the peaceful case demands,
Let your title deeds be clear and bright,
Till you enter your claim to the Lord of Light,
For the house not made with hands.

EARLY VEGETABLES 'Woodman,' in the Rural New Yorker, offers the following hints as to the manner in which he manages so as to have vegetables in advance of their season and to those who are willing to take a little extra trouble essential to their production they may be of value

EARLY PEAS

Get a few papers of the very earliest kind—say extra Early May Select the warmest day in March you can, and spade up as much ground in a sheltered spot as you desire to plant (say a south side fence row or wall,) plant your peas thick, three inches deep, cover with warm dry leaf mould or chip manure and on each side of the row lay corn stalks, piling them up a foot on each side, so they will not fall over on the row Scatter straw lightly over the row, so as not to fully exclude the sunlight. If very rough weather sets in (which will be the case in all probability) cover over the rows with plank or boards until the rough weather is over Remove when the sun shines warmly In this way you can have a few messes a month or more in advance of those planted at the usual time The peas is quite hardy, as I have had them covered with snow when two inches in depth without injury, when protected as above directed.

LETTUCE

Make a hot-bed in the usual way, about four by eight feet Sow any kind of early seed you prefer, keep it covered with sash, air and water every bright pleasant day Thin out the plants as you use them Such a bed will furnish an abundance, quite enough for a family of a dozen or more

TOMATOES

Sow in boxes of about two feet by one and a half six inches deep, in earth of the richest kind Cover the seed half an inch deep It will have a hot bed place this box in it if not set in a warm room near a sunny window Water occasionally When the plants are an inch or two high thin them out to about an inch apart So soon as the weather is free of frost transplant in moderately good garden soil, not rich as that would make fine vines, but poor fruit

EARLY YORK

For the early and delicious cabbages, we would advise to cultivate is lettuce likewise pepper plants

WHEN TO BUY A FARM Very few persons seem to know that the months of June and July are the best in the year in which to look for or purchase a farm At this season one can judge whether the land can or does produce good crop for, if it is rich the waving grass or grain will be an ocular demonstration of the fact and if there is, according to the stereotyped assertion, an abundance of choice fruit it can be seen at this time to the best advantage The low lands will show whether they are really dry enough for pastures in summer, and the up land its capacity for withstanding a drouth If there are any mosquitoes about they will generally make their appearance known at this time if ever and by observing the children in the neighborhood one can determine whether the locality is healthy or otherwise

Summer is also a good time to view the never failing spring and the trout pond near by and a draught from the one and a bunch from the other are attractions which those who possess them seldom fail to bestow upon those who are like to become a purchaser Even the weeds on a farm will assist a man in determining its value, for if nothing but stunted ragweed and five-finger are to be seen then the land may be set down as poor indeed, but if the burdock and catnip abound, it shows strength for crops of a higher order

The pasture and meadow, orchard and garden all show what they are and what there may be expected of them in these months, but earlier or later the aspects of things may change the roads are muddy if ever, and the distance from the farm to the railroad station appears to be much greater than it actually, is especially to a stranger In autumn the leaves are turning yellow, the grain has been gathered, the fruits are nearly gone, still the air is fresh and the landscape glowing with autumnal tints, but the valuable products of a farm which are its crops, are mainly out of sight, being stored in the barn or in the proprietor's pocket [Exchange

COULDN'T STAND THE PRESSURE The following good and truthful story is told by a gentleman who went to visit some old Indiana friends in Boone county, Iowa

The family consisted of the husband, wife and grown sons The good old lady was the only one who did not take a little of the O be joyful Setting by the fire a few minutes the old man tipped him a wink and the visitor followed him out Stopping by a tree, he pulled out a long necked bottle, remarking I have to keep this hid, for the boys might get to drinking and the old woman would sassafac d—l" They took a drink and returned to the fireside. Soon Tom, the eldest son, asked the visitor out to see a colt, and taking him behind the barn, pulling out a flask, remarking, 'I have to keep this hid, for the old man will get drunk, and the d—l is to pay' and they both took a drink and returned Soon Bob stepped on the visitor's toe and walked off the visitor following As they reached the pig pen, Bob drew out a good sized bottle, remarking, "You know the old man and Tom will get drunk, and I have to hide this' The visitor concluded he could not stand it to drink confidentially against the whole family, and started for home

EASY METHOD OF CONTRACTION Congress should authorize the issue of legal tender notes similar to those put in circulation during the war and to an extent equal to the greenbacks now in use—say three hundred and fifty-six millions, having three years to run at six per cent

These notes should be dated on the first of each month, as issued, and paid out for all dues of the government except coin obligations, until the entire quantity has been disposed of. They should be made convertible, at the end of two years, into ten forty bonds at five per cent. principal and interest payable in coin—greenbacks to an equal amount with the compound notes to be destroyed each month until none none are left This process would complete the work in three years

The result would be, that the new notes, being widely diffused by the disbursements of the treasury, would fall into the hands of all classes of persons, and those disposed to hoard them would do so Experience has shown us, in the case of the former issue, that these notes would rapidly disappear, and be finally converted into bonds Contraction effected in this manner would be entirely voluntary on the part of the people, taking place only when they had a surplus of currency Neither the government, the banks, nor speculators could dictate, control, or influence the movement in any degree whatever

THE QUESTION OF THE PERIOD—WHO WROTE "SHOO FLY" A correspondent of the New York Sun says

Dat an' ole Baltimore man Dar's what I m'd to tote tobac board de ships long time ago. Dar war a gay lot of darkies round de ships in dem days. When dar war no work to do we'd sing an' dance an' walk round in old Congo style The smartest boy of the lot war Cuffey He cum from Bamangwato in Southern Africa. He know'd all the songs ob de time an' made new ones sometimes Dem war the best.

De boys used to play a game dey called draw fly, de same dey now call fly loo on the Mississip. De way the game war played dat dist: Dey all sat round in a ring wid sugar in dar laps. Bash one put up a shillin' Dis was called de pot. Den dey dipped dar forefingers in de sugar an' held dem up. De fust darkey dat had a fly lite on his finger would rake down de money

One day dar was a big pot up—man's fore dollars. A blue fly kept buzzin' round Cuffey's nose an' eyes. De fly war one ob the kind dat likes to put a man's nose an' mark into his coffee, chocolate or Cuffey didn't think dat fly was paying de fly away. By-by

FISK & HATCH,

Bankers and Dealers in Government Securities,

No 5 Nassau Street, New York,

February 15th 1870

The remarkable success which has attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY, and the popularity and credit which these Loans have maintained in the markets both in this country and Europe have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and thoroughly managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable and advantageous form of investment yielding a more liberal income than can be realized from first class Government Bonds at the present time

Assured that in the selection and negotiation of our Railroad Loans we are meeting a great public want and rendering a valuable service both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose critical facilities and financial character entitle them to the most liberal confidence and support we will spare no effort will special research or care to satisfy the

First Mortgage Bonds

OF THE

CHESAPEAKE and OHIO RAILROAD CO

Of Chesapeake & Ohio Bonds and coming the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point navigable for steamboats with the great railroad system and water transportation of the West and Southwest forms the additional East and West Trunk Line so imperatively demanded by the business interests of the immense area traversed by it and giving transportation between Cincinnati and a large part of the Ohio Valley and the great points on the Atlantic seaboard and the Mississippi River

The importance of this Road as a new outlet for the West to the sea is at once recognized by the business men and business interests of the country

The present line of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad from the Ohio River at Huntington to Richmond a distance of 200 miles is completed and in operation and the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this country

Engineers and Experts of the highest character and reputation have been employed to make the surveys and estimates for the Road and the work is now under the direction of Major Gen GEORGE B McCLELLAN late General in Chief of the armies of the United States and Governor of New Jersey

The line of the Road from Richmond to the Ohio River with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith

A SINKING FUND OF $100 000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD

The mortgage is for $35 000 000 of which $2 000 000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river perfect and improve the portion now in operation and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and active traffic

The present price is 90 and accrued interest

A loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded, and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the markets, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,

FISK & HATCH,

Bankers.

P S We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on balances.
